

Fall 2007 Women's Research Forum

Entitled "Engendering Quality and Equity in Mental Health Services for Women and Families of Color," the 24th forum held on November 28 2007, examined the health and well-being of women and children of color with a particular focus on mental health. Panelists included Ester Shapiro, Ph.D., who addressed "Gender, Culture and Latina Mental Health Promotion: Ecosystemic Models and Participatory Methods Linking Personal, Organizational and Social Change," Celeste Atallah-Gutierrez, M.A., who spoke about "Using transnational and community empowerment perspectives to promote wellness in immigrant families: Working collaboratively with Latinas in the aftermath of immigration raids," and France-Adine Neff Walker, M.Ed., who presented on "Family Stabilization Work with Young Women of Color." The moderator was Connie Chan., Ph.D.

From left to right: Christa Kelleher (Center for Women in Politics and Public Policy), Barbara Lewis (William Monroe Trotter Institute for the Study of Black Culture), Celeste Atallah-Gutierrez, Jean Humez (Women's Studies Department), Carol Hardy-Fanta (Center for Women in Politics and Public Policy), France-Adine Neff Walker, Paul Watanabe (Institute of Asian American Studies), Ester Shapiro, Connie Chan.